

WASH Literature Club

Is interesting WASH literature accumulating on your I-have-to-read-this-once-I-have-time pile?

Do you feel that there is little time for reflection about WASH topics that are beyond immediate relevance for your day-to-day projects?

Would you like to keep an informal communication-channel with your WASH colleagues even during times when you have no actual project to work on together?

Then the RC/RC WASH-literature club might be for you!

We meet weekly for a one-hour conversation about an interesting WASH piece, e.g. a journal article, a blog post, a video, etc. This provides motivation to commit some time to actually read at least some of the articles from your pile, and it provides an opportunity to chat with like-minded people about things outside of your day-to-day work.

The time for the meeting is Thursdays 9:30 am CEST.

In case you are interested to join or if you have any questions, don't hesitate to send an email to alexander.oeze@roteskreuz.at
